COL-103000

What was it that we wanted?

To be remembered as heroes ...

... or to perish and be forgotten?

Yet we knew ...

... we never had a choice.

Urgh ... Huff ... huff ...

The flames of perdition follow at your heels ...

What?!

You killed them all ...?

... But you may yet be cleansed.

Stop!

Stay away from me!

Repent.

Urghhh!

What are you?!

You goddamn monster ...

We have a situation. The colonel was just taken out within our safe zone.

Eyes up.

Who are you?

We do have a confirmed sighting of the sniper.

Sniper?

The Manus are probably lurking nearby.

Take Marsha with you. Find them!

Six years of war ...

Has deeply shaken our faith and our resolve.

I'll come find you after the war ends. How does that sound?

I now know the true cause of the conflict ...

... and I have seen face of the true enemy.

Farewell, Charon.

I want you to save yourself.

On the eleventh hour ...

... this war will come to an end.

St ... St! Take cover!

Medics! Help!

COL-200000

Arcana isn't dead.

Which path do you think the Timekeeper will eventually take, Lieutenant?

Soon comes the Sufferer's enlightenment!

"... and return to the one and only home."

"Elysium."

We've also received intel, indicating Manus Vindictae's presence in São Paulo.

A writer for the UTTU Magazine, said to be a blind woman named Urd.

She said the latest piece was sent from a Veterans' Residence in São Paulo.

Mr. Karson?!

Could it be that the "Storm" doesn't kill people? At least, not physically?

I trust in Vertin's decision.

Kill her.

Let go of her!

H-How dare you!

My family are not traitors.

Farewell, Pera.

You made the right choice.

We couldn't halt Igor's escape.

It's been confirmed that the Dr. Dores he took is none other than Ms. Urd.

On a separate note, Moth, our mole planted within Manus Vindictae, has sent us some new information.

I am willing to do anything for THEIR return.

Dores?

Was I mistaken?

I've never seen two people so alike.

Its full name is "the Panopticon of Comala."

There is no truer home to literature than a prison—
If things are playing out just like my novel ...

Then, maybe Aleph is in fact still here.

The Die of Babylon?!

Are you the one controlling the Panopticon with a die? The one hiding Ms. Dores's whereabouts?

Why do you resist receiving its answer?

Let's put a stop to this, Aleph.

What exactly did the Manus promise Dr. Dores?

A chance for her to remember her duty.

She was leaving. She was headed to Antarctica!

There, you'll find Manus Vindictae's largest stronghold and the site of their ritual.

Like some kind of sacrifice ...

And that's why I need to get it to the Timekeeper. Should the worst happen, at least we can minimize the damage.

Who would ask a common moth its name?

Maybe I'll see just a little bit more.

Nautika!

Come back!

What have I forgotten?

It seems you've already made up your mind.

I have.

Hold them off while Ulrich works on the record!

No. This can't be my calling.

Return us to the Blank Era, where arcanists reign as masters of all!

Return us to paradise!

Mum!

Is this worth more than your life?

I believe it is.

And seek the answer you must seek.

So, even if in the end, the path I walk leads me nowhere ...

"I will pursue the unknown no matter where it takes me."

We did it!

It's the "Storm." The "Flood" transformed into it.

The ritual has been halted, just as it was in 1999.

... will surely cross again, Vertin.
We shall meet again, Vertin.

In a world that is rightfully ours.
