Seriously, you're doing the "Artificial Storm" experiment ... HERE?
You're not about to go swimming with my most treasured record, are you?
You must understand, this record is a vital element of the experiment.
And YOU need to understand that it's a one-of-a-kind relic of rock 'n' roll!
Oh, don't fret. I've taken that concern into account!
What?!
The closest potential location for the experiment appears to be directly on the route of this cruise ship, the "Free Breeze."
Wow ...
My calculations show that we're veering off course.
We're accelerating on a southward trajectory!
These people are fortunate
—born into talent, wealth, and privilege.
Ms. Grace, please, show us a new way!
What a coincidence. I so happen to have a similar device myself.
1999 ... 2005 ... 2007 ...
There is a pioneer who has crossed the "Storm."
There's a language that transcends all barriers.
Please, everyone, hold onto each other and follow the music!
And you're going to do the experiment alone?
That's the plan. And if I fail,
at least you'll have one more Umbrella for the others.
